

Risk in Real Time: Operational Silos Prevent Rapid Response During Risk Events

Leveraging real-time information is challenging

Siloed processes and inflexible technology create even more challenges.

agree that access to real-time information is generally siloed find cross-functional collaboration challenging find lack of flexibility in tools challenging find process efficiency challenging

Corporations lack confidence and are improvising in risk preparedness

42% of decision-makers are currently improvising with their risk preparedness

Confidence is lacking. Only...

29% are "very confident" they have the technologies to accurately obtain and early view of unexpected events

30% are "very confident" they have the processes to accurately obtain and early view of unexpected events

37% are "very confident" they have the information to accurately obtain and early view of unexpected events

Unlock the power of a real-time risk management solution

Risk leaders seek to enable:

60% Effective response

58% Speed

53% Operational efficiency

51% Business continuity

Firms prioritize real-time risk management solutions

Risk leaders seek to invest in an accessible, flexible solution to address challenges:

44%

of risk leaders plan to implement or expand the use of a real-time alerting platform

78% seek ease of use in a solution

77% seek ease of integration into workflows

75% seek quick deployment of a solution